SULAM PROGRAM: MATH IS FUN

- I participated in a university program called SULAM: Math is Fun Day, where we engaged with high school students to make learning math more enjoyable through games and interactive activities. This experience taught me valuable leadership skills, such as how to guide a team, plan activities, and communicate clearly with others. It also showed me the importance of helping others grow, both individually and as part of a group. Working with the students and my teammates helped me become more responsible, confident, and supportive.
